WELCOME TO METRO PHILLY

JOE PANTORNO, SPORTS EDITOR

Sure, I could attempt to build up the hype surrounding the 2018 Winter Olympic Games in Pyeongchang, South Korea, with the cliched "sports brings the world together" mumbo jumbo. That's all find and dandy, but I'm tired of thinking about politics while watching sports. What I am always most excited about is the fact that over a two-week span, no-names become the darlings of nations all over the world. With the opening ceremony ushering in the 23rd Winter Olympiad, we'll be spoiled with a new batch of heroes as we get to sit back, relax and watch formerly ordinary Americans achieve lifelong dreams. WALL STREET STOCKS TUMBLE AGAIN

U.S. stocks plunged anew on Thursday in another trading session with big swings, as volatility remained high and investors failed to see a bottom in the market ahead. The S&P 500 and the Dow industrials confirmed they were in correction territory, both falling more than 10 percent from their Jan. 26 record highs. The S&P 500 slumped 3.8 percent on Thursday, while the Dow dropped 4.2 percent as losses accelerated late in the trading day. Thursday marked the S&P 500's biggest drop in more than six years. "The dust hasn't settled yet, and I think both buyers and sellers are trying to figure out what this market really wants to do," said Jonathan Corpina, senior managing partner for Meridian Equity Partners in New York. "I would think that this continues to happen for the next few trading sessions for everything to kind of get flushed out."

WH: STAFF COULD 'HAVE DONE BETTER' ON PORTER

2 The White House on Thursday said that Chief of Staff John Kelly and other staff "could all have done better" in handling former aide Rob Porter once they were aware of domestic abuse allegations against him. "I think it's fair to say that we all could have done better over the last few days in dealing with this situation. This was a Rob Porter that we all have dealt with," White House Spokesman Raj Shah told reporters. "The emerging reports were not reflective of the individual we've come to know and I am not going to get into the tick-tock of all this ... it is all a part of ongoing investigation." The White House was not aware of the extent of the domestic abuse allegations against former White House aide Rob Porter until photographs of an ex-wife with a black eye emerged on Wednesday, a White House spokesman said Thursday.

TRUMP MAY TARGET IMMIGRANTS USING BENEFITS

4 The Trump administration is considering making it harder for foreigners living in the U.S. to get permanent residency if they or their American-born children use public benefits such as food assistance, in a move that could sharply restrict legal immigration. The Department of Homeland Security has drafted rules seen by Reuters that would allow immigration officers to scrutinize a potential immigrant's use of certain taxpayer-funded public benefits to determine if they could become a public burden. The draft rules are a sharp departure from current guidelines, which specifically bar authorities from considering such non-cash benefits in deciding a person's eligibility to stay in the country. Receiving such benefits could weigh against an applicant, even if they were for an immigrant's U.S. citizen children, according to the new proposal.

GOVERNMENT PREPARING FOR POSSIBLE SHUTDOWN

5 The White House's Office of Management and Budget was preparing for a possible government shutdown if Congress could not pass a funding bill by midnight, an OMB official said Thursday. "The Office of Management and Budget is currently preparing for a lapse in appropriations. As we stated earlier today, we support the Bipartisan Budget Act and urge Congress to send it to the president's desk without delay," the official said. Hopes for a quick vote to keep the government operating hit a snag when Republican Sen. Rand Paul first wanted a debate on his amendment to kill the legislation's increased federal spending. It was unclear whether the Senate and House would be able to pass a funding bill by midnight, when existing federal funds expire. Without new funds, federal agencies would be ordered to partially shut down.

Philadelphia to the Eagles: Welcome home, champs

sam.newhouse@metro.us

They came from all around the city, the state, New Jersey and Delaware. Fans who had moved away returned. Nearly every person wore Eagles green or some other Birds apparel. Some carried small urns containing the ashes of family members, Eagles fans who died before seeing their team reach and seize Super Bowl LII.

and were broadcast on 14 Jumbotrons set up for the overflow audience who filled miles of streets.

The Parkway, the area around Broad Street and many of the major streets through Center City were packed with Eagles fans and police as the victory parade began at Broad Street and Pattison Avenue at 11 a.m.

Along the route, from South Philly to the Art Museum, massive crowds of fans lined up hours before the parade kickoff. SEPTA significantly altered service for the parade, and multiple roads were closed along with courts, libraries, city offices and schools.

SEPTA quickly be-

"No one likes this team. No analysts like this team. And nobody likes our fans. We're from Philly, f—ing Philly, nobody likes us, we don't care!"

Jason Kelce, Eagles center

The champions of Philadelphia were honored for their Super Bowl win by hundreds of thousands of fans — some estimates put the crowd size as high as 2 million — who filled a parade route of 5-plus miles.

"No one likes this team. No analysts like this team. And nobody likes our fans," Eagles center Jason Kelce shouted to the crowd from the Art Museum steps before beginning to chant, "We're from Philly, f—ing Philly, nobody likes us, we don't care!" as fans chanted along.

Kelce and the other Eagles showed off the Lombari Trophy from the steps around 1 p.m. They spoke through microphones wired to speakers lining the Parkway came so crowded the Broad Street Line began skipping Walnut-Locust Station, which was too full of people for anyone to get in or out.

Only two arrests were reported. While some violence was spotted, including people climbing poles and a Broad Street road sign being stolen, the crowd was overall joyous and peaceful.

For many fans, the Eagles are more than a sports team.

"The Philadelphia Eagles' performance in the Super Bowl and their close-knit bond reflects the Philadelphia story: our city's grit and our spirit of brotherly love," Mayor Jim Kenney tweeted during the parade. "Let's celebrate what our Eagles have done and thank them!"

$2 Sex Pill From China Does What $50 Sex Pills In The U.S. Cannot

Approved by top doctors; proven in 13 U.S. clinical trials to turbo charge libido levels, trigger harder, longer lasting erections and give men "mind blowing" orgasms

By J. Whitsed
National Media Syndicate

NMS—A pill that restores a man's sex drive and triggers strong, long lasting erections without side effects has been used in China for 63 years. It is now available in the United States.

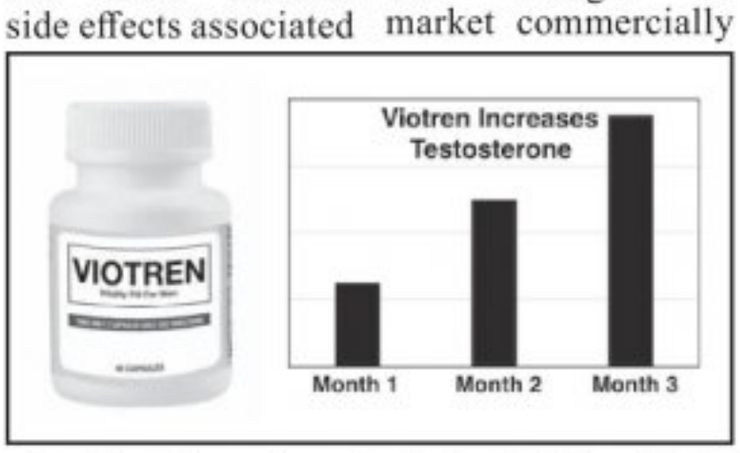
This amazing pill contains ingredients that not only resolve sexual health problems in men, but also boost lost testosterone levels in the body.

It also cuts your sex pill costs up to 82% less than using medications like Viagra.

An improved version of this pill is now being offered in the United States by the American Institute of Longevity under the brand name Viotren.

Viotren restores male libido levels. It relieves performance anxiety. It triggers powerful erections that are easier and faster to achieve, too. It even contains an ingredient that "switches off" the chemical in a man's body that causes his erections to go soft.

Viotren is also safe and good for your overall health. It does not cause harmful side effects associated with Viagra, Levitra, and Cialis.



Triggers a massive release of testosterone in the body

Viotren contains ingredients that trigger a massive release of testosterone in the body. As a result, your sex drive is quickly restored. So is your ability to get and maintain an erection.

Thirteen clinical studies have now been conducted on Viotren's active ingredient here in the U.S. The results show men report being more easily aroused. They report harder, longer lasting erections, too. They also report being more passionate during love making. The pill even improves muscle strength, energy levels, and physical stamina.

Kiernan Mills, Director of the American Institute of Longevity said, "The origin of Viotren is in ancient Oriental medicine. Scientists now know that there are many remedies from Oriental medicine that are proving very effective in clinical studies."

This particular Oriental remedy was brought to market commercially by a Chinese pharmaceutical company in 1953. But they took it a step further. They took the ingredients in the remedy that triggered the amazing sexual benefits in men and they put them into a pill.

When the pill absorbs into the body, the ingredients are released into the blood where they begin restoring testosterone and libido levels.

The American Institute of Longevity has developed an improved pill which includes more potent and faster absorbing forms of each ingredient. The former pill, while incredibly effective, was slower to work in the body.

Stronger, Longer Lasting Erections In 72-Hours

There are many benefits to a sex pill that restores testosterone levels.

First of all, the sexual improvements are felt in days. You don't have to wait weeks or months. Improvements in your sex drive and ability to get and maintain an erection start within the first 72-hours.

Going directly to the source of male sexual problems — i.e., low testosterone — has this major health benefit: you don't have to take risky drugs that cause harmful side effects anymore. By restoring lost testosterone levels, you simply "reset" your sex drive to the way it used to be when you were a younger man.

New Sex Pill: Top doctors are now recommending new Viotren to men; 13 clinical studies show active ingredient boosts sexual desire; triggers stronger longer-lasting erections.

Not only is Viotren safe to use, but, it also helps to improve blood circulation throughout the body. This further improves your ability to get an erection and maintain it for the entire duration of sex.

What Doctors Are Saying

"Many Viotren users note an increased sense of well-being, vitality, and sexual performance in the first 30 days," said Dr. Holly Lucille, who has appeared on award winning T.V. shows like The Doctors, and PBS's Healing Quest.

"I recommend Viotren to men who find it difficult to become aroused. It does wonders for your sexual appetite. Your sexual sensitivity. Even for your staying power and stamina," said Dr. Vincent Leaper, M.D.

"Viotren is a good choice for men who feel they have passed their peak. The results of using this pill can be an in- crease in energy levels, vigor, and a decrease in depressive mood," said Dr. Decker Weiss, Integrative Cardiologist and Professional Committee Member of the America Heart Association.

Double Money Back Guarantee

In addition, the makers of Viotren claim this pill works for almost every man. And so, they are willing to put their money where their mouth is to prove it.

"If men use Viotren exactly as directed, they will see a huge spike in testosterone… a massive increase in sexual desire… a boost in bedroom performance… and stronger, longer lasting erections that are faster and easier to achieve," said Mills.

"And if for any reason that does not happen, which is highly unlikely, we'll go ahead and issue each man a double your money back refund. We can only offer a guarantee like this because we know Viotren works and men love it," he added.

How To Get Viotren

This is the official nationwide release of Viotren in the United States. And so, the company is offering a special discount supply to any man who calls within the next 48-hours.

Starting at 7:00 AM today, the order hotline will be open for 48-hours. All you have to do is call TOLL-FREE 1-888-764-0409 and provide the operator with the special discount approval code: BRF179. The company will do the rest.

Important: Due to Viotren's recent media exposure on CBS, CNN, MSNBC, and FOX News, phone lines are often busy. If you call and do not immediately get through, please be patient and call back. Those who miss the 48 hour deadline may be forced to pay full price for Viotren.

These statements have not been evaluated by the Food and Drug Administration. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease. All doctors mentioned are remunerated for their services. All clinical studies on Viotren's active ingredient were independently conducted and were not sponsored by the American Institute of Longevity.

Eagles fans found vantage points to view the parade along its route.

Need a reason to watch Olympic curling? Two words: Crazy pants

The Norwegian Olympic team is known for their crazy trousers.

SAM BRODSKY
Samantha.Brodsky@metro.us

The Norwegian curling team is back for the Winter Olympics. GETTY IMAGES

Curling is basically shuffleboard on ice. And if you need a reason to watch this year, we'll give you one that you may not have been expecting: pants … of the crazy variety.

The Norwegian men's team debuted their curling pants at the 2010 Vancouver Games. When a supplier shipped them the wrong uniforms weeks before the Olympics, the men did what any frantic, pantsless person would do: They turned to the internet.

What they got added some flair to their country's colors: a red, white and blue argyle pattern that stood out from what's typically worn on the ice. And these crazy curling pants immediately drew media attention.

According to Time, Loudmouth, the global golf brand that makes the pants, saw a 40 percent increase in sales post-Vancouver, where the Norwegian team won silver. Loudmouth proceeded to sponsor them at the 2014 Sochi Games, and a tradition was born.

"It was enough to cause a stir in the curling world," Tony D'Orazio, a curler from New York told The New York Times before Sochi. "It took the traditions of the sport and re-energized it for a new generation."

Though they didn't make the podium in Sochi, the team is back for the Pyeongchang games with 12 different outfits.

Donald Trump Jr. might have the worst ideas for Valentine's Day gifts

Valentine's Day gift ideas, courtesy of Donald Trump Jr. DONALD TRUMP JR./TWITTER

Donald Trump Jr. has some Valentine's Day gift ideas for anyone trying to get their sweetie something on Feb. 14.

The president's eldest son took it upon himself to offer gift ideas for Valentine's Day by sharing a link to the Trump Store.

Donald Jr. tweeted a photo of a teddy bear wearing a Trump robe while sitting atop a model airplane. The plane also has the Trump name emblazoned on its side.

"When roses just won't cut it...," he wrote in a tweet posted Wednesday with a link to TrumpStore.com.

On the Trump Store special Valentine's Day section, you'll find such items as a Trump wine glass, slippers, a red "Double Trouble" pullover sweater and a "Signature" duffle bag.

The pullover sweatshirt will run you $150. It does come in double and triple XL, though.

Twitter reacts to Donald Trump Jr. Valentine's Day gifts

Within seconds of posting his Valentine's Day gift ideas, people quickly roasted him for it.

Twitter user Tracie wrote: "If this bear was real, you would shoot it and give it as a trophy to your wife for Valentine's Day. But, since he is stuffed, you just want the profit for your defense fund."

Catlady628 added, "I can't think of anything I would rather NOT have... stop using the WH to sell your crap."

As for the photo Junior used in the advertisement for Trump Store gift ideas, there's nothing that screams Valentine's Day more than a teddy bear straddling a 757 toy aircraft.

How three American heroes became Hollywood stars

Clint Eastwood's drama is out Feb.9.
WARNER BROS

The trio behind the story of "The 15:17 to Paris" open up about their extraordinary journey.

GREGORY WAKEMAN
Gregory.Wakeman@metro.us

It's easy to see why actors-cum-real-life-terrorist-foilers Spencer Stone, Alek Skarlatos and Anthony Sadler couldn't turn down Clint Eastwood's offer to star as themselves in "The 15:17 to Paris." Even if they didn't have any acting experience.

"It's important for people to go deeper than the headline," Sadler says. "The movie does a really good job of showing just how ordinary we are. Hopefully you can identify with one or all three of us, and hopefully this film can inspire people to overcome adversity in their real lives."

That hope inspired the trio to collaborate with journalist Jeffrey E. Stern on the book "The 15:17 to Paris: The True Story of a Terrorist, a Train and Three American Heroes." It also helped Stone, Skarlatos and Sadler to seek out Clint Eastwood at the Guys Choice Awards and pitch their incredible true story to him as a film.

"After reading our book, [Eastwood] he realized the craziness of the whole thing and how truly lucky we are to be alive," Stone says. "I think it was just one of those stories that he typically likes. He even told us that he stopped working on another project to work on ours."

Still, it was never their intention to even appear in the film — let alone lead it.

"That was a pretty 11th-hour decision on Clint's part," Skarlatos explains. "They had been casting for over a month and then three weeks before filming, they called us down to Burbank. We just assumed it was to talk to the actors."

Instead, the Oscar-winning director wanted them to re-create the events of that fateful day in August, when Stone, Skarlatos and Sadler — with the help of Mark Moogalian and Chris Norman — subdued Ayoub El Khazzani as he tried to open fire on a crowded train travelling from Amsterdam to Paris.

But rather than having any concern about reliving the near tragedy, the trio were instead more daunted by appearing on screen.

"It wasn't anything that traumatic for us," Skarlatos says. "Nobody died the day of the attack. There was obviously doubt about us acting because it was such a risk. But eventually Clint gave us the confidence to say yes."

Surprisingly, Eastwood told Stone, Skarlatos and Sadler not to take any acting classes ahead of their big-screen debuts, insisting, "I just want you to do it as you did it."

Clearly they couldn't be happier with the result, especially as "The 15:17 to Paris" is grounded in a reality that highlights their heroics, but doesn't make them out to be superhuman.

"A lot of people think that it is some trait that just the three of us have," Sadler says. "But the film does a good job of showing that we are just three ordinary guys, and people will be able to identify with that."

"15:17 to Paris"

Director: Clint Eastwood
Stars: Spencer Stone, Anthony Sadler, Alek Skarlatos
Rating: PG-13

With "The 15:17 to Paris," Clint Eastwood decided to take a risk. Not only did he cast the three real-life American heroes of the 2015 terrorist attack in France in their own story, but he also told them they didn't need to act. But "act" they did. As a result, Eastwood's gamble completely backfires.

The film is, in a word, excruciating. The three leads are unaided by Eastwood's emotionless direction and completely hindered by a heavy-handed and blatant script. Not even the climax of the film, where we see Spencer Stone, Anthony Sadler, and Alek Skarlatos subdue the terrorist and save the lives of those onboard can make up for the painstaking tediousness that precedes it.

Here's hoping this film will quickly fade into obscurity, forever overshadowed by what they actually did that day. Because these heroes deserve much, much better than "The 15:17 to Paris."

GREGORY WAKEMAN

"The 15:17 to Paris" is excruciating.

"Peter Rabbit"

Director: Will Gluck
Stars: James Corden, Domhnall Gleeson, Rose Byrne

There are two ways to look at "Peter Rabbit." There will be the die-hard Beatrix Potter fans who can't forgive the film for being at odds with the seminal source material. Then there will be those that quickly forgive it because it is just a lot of fun.

I'm in the latter camp. "Peter Rabbit" is a film of such pace and verve that I quickly became swept up in it. Domhnall Gleeson shows an adeptness for physical comedy, and James Corden thrives as the titular bunny.

The film is admittedly a tad too hollow and not terribly original. You could easily surmise that it's nothing more than a good time for the whole family. But considering that's all it clearly wants to be, it pleasantly delivers.

'50 Shades Freed' is about

Here are the least titillating moments from the final film in the trilogy.

RACHAEL VAUGHAN CLEMMONS
rachael.clemmons@metro.us

Our long national nightmare has finally come to an end: This Friday, the final film in the "50 Shades" trilogy, "50 Shades Freed" will be released. Somehow, it manages to be boring, bland and essentially a two-hour-long Audi commercial about 1-percenters with a fleeting interest in butt plugs.

Somewhere between "50 Shades of Grey" and "50 Shades Freed" the series became less about misunderstanding the basic tenets of the BDSM lifestyle, and more about unbridled white privilege and forgetting to take one's birth control. What I'm saying is the final film in the 50 Shades trilogy is not remotely sexy, sensual or otherwise palatable in any way.

You want proof? Here are the five least-sexy moments of the entire film:

When Christian braids Ana's hair.

It's clear to me that this couple wouldn't know sexy if it broke into their apartment and taunted them with empty threats (to be as sexy as a trip to the dentist

My girl Ana is "freed," but not from the patriarchy, am I right? UNIVERSAL PICTURES clear, a character does do this. And it's sexier than anything Christian or Ana do in the entire movie). Also, let this be known: Christian is no Chris Pratt, plait-wise.

"I love what you're doing in Africa."
A sexy architect type says this to Christian, which makes us wonder: What is it, exactly, Christian is doing in Africa? Banging ladies? Building wells? Nobody mentions it again, so I suppose we'll never know.

Christian and Ana's honeymoon montage.
Mr. and Mrs. Grey run around in the rain on cobblestone streets and gaze upon the Eiffel Tower, and it's all just awfully basic of them.

When Ana drives Christian's car.
It makes them both horny, which is weird, because it's not like this is "Speed." "Speed" is a way better movie, to be perfectly honest.

I've done the research, and Keanu Reeves and Sanda Bullock have at least 97 times the chemistry as these two wet blankets.

When Christian and Ana start a family.
It's not that it's not sexy, it's just that it's awfully irresponsible. We have two adults — one who is, no big, a possessive sociopath — who both freely admit to not being ready to procreate. Yet they very consistently have unprotected sex: in a car, in someone's kitchen, in that got-damn Red Room. And yet, Ana's gynecologist has to explain to her that she got pregnant because she missed her birth-control shots. THESE ARE ADULTS. Someone please call child-protective services — and while you're at it? Throw these two in the Red Room and toss away the key.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned self storage units will be sold at a public sale by competitive bidding, in their entirety to the highest bidder, on or after 2/22/18 to satisfy the lien of the Lessor, with Metro Storage LLC as managing agent for Lessor, for rental and other charges due from the undersigned. The said property has been stored and is located at the respective address below. The sale will be conducted under the guidance of Cheli Rosa (AU003807) on behalf of the facilities' management. Units will be available for viewing prior to the sale on StorageStuff.Bid. The terms of the sale will be cash only to the highest bidder. A 10% buyer's premium will be charged per unit. Meet the Americans

HIGHLIGHTING TEAM USA'S BIGGEST STARS

LINDSEY VONN

ALPINE SKIING

DOB: 10/18/84

HOMETOWN: ST. PAUL, MINNESOTA

With seven World Championship medals to go with a gold and bronze at the 2010 Vancouver Olympics, one might think Lindsey Vonn doesn't have much to prove as the greatest female skier ever.

But she is the poster child of redemption in Pyeongchang as she has overcome harrowing injury problems that began in 2013 — which forced her to miss the 2014 Sochi Games — to finally get back to form for the 2018 Games.

Though it didn't come without a scare after injuring her back in December.

Entering her fifth Olympics, the 33-year-old is the elder stateswoman of Team USA's Alpine Skiing squad, but is still one of the best, as she'll compete in six-different events in a 12-day span.

Talk about unstoppable.

MIKAELA SHIFFRIN

ALPINE SKIING

DOB: 3/13/95

HOMETOWN: EAGLE-VAIL, COLORADO

If you're looking for the next dominant force in Alpine Skiing, look no further than Mikaela Shiffrin, who is adding super G and downhill to her usual slalom and giant Slalom events in Pyeongchang.

On the slalom scene, Shiffrin is one the best, if not the best in the world having been a major player for the past five years.

Shiffrin became the youngest Olympian to win a gold medal in slalom when she finished first as an 18-year-old at the 2014 Winter Games in Sochi.

CHLOE KIM

SNOWBOARDING

DOB: 4/23/00

HOMETOWN: TORRANCE, CALIFORNIA

On the extreme sports scene, Chloe Kim has been a staple over the past four years. As a 13-year-old, she won silver in the SuperPipe at the X Games in Aspen, Colorado. She then took gold the following three years, becoming the only athlete in X Games history to win three gold medals before the age of 16, as she was tabbed as "the future of women's halfpipe riding."

In 2016, she took gold at the Youth Olympics in Norway, in the halfpipe and slopestyle competitions.

Sixers quiet at deadline

The team wasn't willing to part with Dario Saric in a Tyreke Evans deal with Memphis.

MATT BURKE
matthew.burke@metro.us

Dario Saric is averaging 14.3 points per game this season for the Sixers. GETTY IMAGES

There were multiple big moves made across the NBA on trade deadline day Thursday but the Sixers did not join in on the fun – standing pat with their current group.

There is a good chance the Sixers will add a player in the buy-out market, however, as there will likely be multiple rotation-quality players available.

Memphis Grizzlies guard Tyreke Evans was one player the Sixers were said to have had their eyes on, but Memphis' asking price was too steep for Bryan Colangelo in the end.

"The Philadelphia 76ers continue to make a strong push for Tyreke Evans and remain in discussions with the Memphis Grizzlies, according to league sources," USA Today's Alex Kennedy tweeted during the day Thursday. "At one point, Memphis asked for Dario Saric, but Philly wasn't interested in giving up the 23-year-old."

The biggest swap completed in the league Thursday was between the Los Angeles Lakers and Cleveland Cavaliers as the Cavs shipped out point guard Isaiah Thomas and forward Channing Frye in exchange for Lakers guard Jordan Clarkson and forward Larry Nance.

Cleveland clearly was not happy with what it had seen from Thomas, as the team went in a funk immediately upon his return from injury in early January. Clarkson and Nance give the Cavs a much-needed jolt of youthful energy.

Along those same youth movement lines, the Cavs shipped out 36-year-old Dwyane Wade Thursday as well – sending him back to Miami. Wade had been hoping to close out his NBA career with the Heat, and now the three-time NBA champ will get his wish.

Trade day

Other NBA trades Thursday:

The Cavs also traded away Jae Crowder, Derrick Rose and Iman Shumpert and got back George Hill and Rodney Hood in a three-way swap with Sacramento and Utah.

Another three-way deal had the Knicks landing Emmanuel Mudiay, the Mavs adding Doug McDermott, and the Nuggets nabbing Devin Harris.

Aries Helping others will lead to rewards. You cannot be faulted if you do your best and are honest about your feelings. Walk away from petty arguments.

Taurus Don't donate money if you don't have the funds. Offer your time, but don't be taken you for granted. It's admirable to want to help, but make it clear what you can do.

Gemini Partnerships will make a difference to your future. Whether a personal or professional connection, the discussions and the promises you make will help you excel.

Cancer Emotional deception will throw you off guard. Don't let a disagreement lead to an argument. Instead, state facts, listen to viewpoints and find common ground.

Leo Love, romance and personal improvements are highlighted. Make arrangements with someone special that will discuss plans. Invest more time and money in your future.

Virgo Don't get angry when you should be looking for solutions. Question what's transpired and be willing to admit to anything you may have misunderstood. Keep the peace.

Libra A short trip with someone you love will bring you closer together. Personal changes will make you feel good about the way you look and what you have to offer.

Scorpio What you want to do will not sit well with someone you live with or love. Find a compromise or offer an incentive that will allow you to explore your pursuits.

Sagittarius Emotions will fester if you don't channel your energy into something physical. Don't take risks, but do take on a challenge that will tire you out.

Capricorn Someone will take advantage if you are too helpful. Ask questions and determine if someone is merely lazy or actually in dire need of assistance.

Aquarius Consider how you are using your skills to bring in cash, and look for new and diverse ways to put your talents to good use. A change will do you good.

Pisces You'll end up in a compromising position if you choose to battle. Make sure you have the facts and that you're willing to lose if you end up in a no-win situation. EUGENIA LAST
